Vice President's Message

Greetings everyone, our website continues to evolve thanks to the hard work of John Sikac. If you haven't visited the site, do it, it is worth the time. In this issue of The Byteline I want to focus on the career and events pages of the much improved website.

There are several opportunities available on the career page, M&I Corp. recently posted opportunities for two Senior IT auditors (<http://www.isaca-km.org/jobs/careers.html>).

Our events page includes ISACA-KM events and events from other organizations that are relevant to our membership (<<http://www.isaca-km.org/events/events.html>>). Functionality has been created to allow on-line meeting registration! As we experiment with a lunch included format for meetings we needed to develop a way for Members who want to attend to RSVP and make menu choices. Each ISACA-KM meeting has a link to register which presents a form with the information required to develop an attendance list, create receipt, CPE certificates and the all important food choices.

We are still in need of a Program Director for the board. It is critical that we fill all the positions to ensure adequate service for the membership. These are both crucial positions to fill and I hope that someone will step up to participate. The program director has a great opportunity to network with members, vendors and others in the process of securing quality speaker's for regular chapter meetings. We need your help.

Our April meeting was great, with opportunities to discuss issues facing all of us these days, from SARS related travel restrictions to the challenges of reduced staffing. Our speaker, Mick Ward from Resources Connection, was excellent. We have events scheduled for May and June.

May's meeting will cover wireless security and a vote on updated by-laws and June's will be held on the Willow Run Golf course.

Directions and other event information is available on our website at <http://www.isaca-km.org/events/events.html>

More Wireless with Less Worry!

The Wireless Security Presentation will cover the following:

- The recent "explosion" of wireless technologies and the projected outlook;
- A background on the major Wireless Technologies and where these are most often used;
- Available security features included with 802.11x products;

- Inherent Wireless risks and the tools intruders can use to gain access to your network; and
- How to secure your Wireless Network through various approaches.

Speakers

Michael A. Montag works in Protiviti's Technology Risk practice in Milwaukee. During his career at Protiviti, Mike has spent most of his time performing Internal and External Network Penetration Testing including Social Engineering and Wireless Security Assessments. In addition to being an ISACA member, Mike is a Cisco Certified Network Associate (CCNA), and is in the process of attaining the Certified Wireless Network Administrator (CWNA) certification.

Michael J. Richardson works in Protiviti's Technology Risk practice in Chicago. His work focuses on risk assessments including network penetration, wireless security, and security architecture reviews. He is a Cisco Certified Network Associate (CCNA), has recently passed the Certified Information Systems Security Professional (CISSP) practical exam, and is a member of the Information Systems Security Association (ISSA).
